The Gazette will be issued one day earlier next week on account of the Union Picnic on Thursday. All changes of advertisements should be in by Tuesday noon.

Dr. H. Taylor Horn

Dr. H. Taylor Horn, a prominent physician of New Paris, was found dead in bed at his home in New Paris, Thursday morning, demise due to heart trouble and rheumatism from which he had been suffering for several years. He was about 23 years old. He was the son of Daniel J. Horn, deceased, and Ann Elizabeth (Taylor) Horn, still living, and has three brothers, Madison, Merle and Timlow, and one sister, Allie, wife of Harvey Hillegass, of Point.

The funeral services will be conducted from his late home in New Paris, Rev. Rose of Schellsburg officiating, his interment will be at Schellsburg in the care of the Free Masons. He began the practice of medicine in 1910.

ROOSEVELT DECLARES HE WILL FIGHT ON IN PROGRESSIVE PARTY

Impossible to Return to G. O. P. With His Convictions. Praises Followers Who Stuck 3 Years. Announces Purpose as He Gets Back From Pacific Coast Trip. Expositions are Bully. Got Enthusiastic Greetings as He Traveled Through Canada.

Philadelphia North American.
New York, August 2.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt will stand by the Progressive cause and will not re-enter the Republican party.

That was his definite statement today at Oyster Bay, after he returned with Mrs. Roosevelt from a lively and pleasurable visit to the Canadian north-west, the American Pacific coast and the two expositions.

There was no shading of meaning whatever in the brief but direct statement to which he restricted himself, despite much urging to amplify his views.

The colonel's political philosophy came to this: Others who are steering back to the Republican fold after three years of allegiance to Progressive principles have a perfect right to do so. The colonel feels no anger or resentment. That they should weaken after three years gives him a little sorrow, as his close friends understand, but at least he feels kindly to them for having remained steadfast so long.

Colonel Roosevelt's Declaration
Here is the way he expressed himself today:

"As regards the Progressives who have announced their intention of enrolling as Republicans in this State, I have nothing to say, except that I think it has been fine of them to have made the great fight they have made during the last three years of Progressive principles, and I am sure they are acting conscientiously in the step they now take and with the purpose of doing what they regard as most useful to the community."

"Holding the convictions I do, it would be an impossibility for me myself to take the step. I shall enroll as a Progressive, and if any man in this State asks my advice, I shall advise him also to enroll as a Progressive."

This statement represented all that Colonel Roosevelt had to say for publication upon his return to Sagamore Hill. It was drafted after he had rested from the fatigue of a long, hot journey; and it was given to the press by John W. McGrath, the colonel's secretary. Its contents, however, did not surprise the close friends of Colonel Roosevelt, who had discussed with him in a general way the future of the Progressive party.

Believes Party Still Useful
These friends had made up their minds that all talk of his leaving the Progressive party and seeking preferment or power in the Republican party was baseless.

The colonel's standpoint is that he is just as earnest and loyal in his Progressive leadership as he was the day he first walked out of the Chicago convention with a hymn tune as marching time.

Persons who are in a position to know the colonel's views say that he does not believe that the usefulness of the Progressive party as a political organization is at an end by any means.

They say that this notion is that the party will exert a tremendous influence in the coming state elections and in the next national canvass. They have gathered the impression that Colonel Roosevelt himself will not be his party's candidate for President, but will be content to support any ardent Progressive favored by the majority of the party, with Governor Hiram Johnson of California as first choice.

In other words, the colonel will do his best to line up the full strength of the Progressives for another stiff battle in 1916, a battle in which national preparedness for war and national self-respect will be inscribed upon the Progressive banners.

It was learned that Colonel Roosevelt had read with keen interest the speech delivered by Ex-Senator Elihu Root, in which Mr. Root appeared to open the Republican door to admit brethren long astray in the Progressive fields, and in which Mr. Root commented upon the fitness and strength of the governors of this state in recent years, but Colonel Roosevelt declined to express any opinion, even as to the departure from the Progressive party of his nephew, Theodore Douglas Robinson. Nor did the colonel desire, at this time, to discuss our relations with Germany or any other international topic.

The trip from which he returned today was rather strenuous and eventful. In three weeks he had traveled about 7,500 miles, had visited the great provinces of the Canadian northwest, the American west and had tarried briefly in many large cities of the American west.

The interest, even enthusiasm, which was displayed everywhere he appeared was extremely gratifying to the colonel. He took this to be less of a personal tribute than a manifestation of continued loyalty to the Progressive party. California, as one of his friends said today, simply roared a greeting, and the days when he attended the exposition at San Francisco were the days when the attendance records went up to remarkable figures.

Canadians Shouted for Him

The greeting he received through Alberta and British Columbia rather astonished him in its heartiness. The Canadians turned out for the colonel and shouted for him as if he had been one of their own leaders campaigning for a seat in the dominion parliament. He was reminded, literally, of some of his own tempestuous campaigns by the incessant torchlight processions and band concerts that were held in his honor in Canadian territory. These tributes were due, it was understood, to his outspoken antagonism to Germany's methods of war-making, although the colonel has always been rather popular north of the line.

During the three weeks he delivered only two long speeches which he considered of importance, one in San Francisco and another at San Diego, but he was called upon frequently for brief train-end talks and made them before large crowds. The territory he covered, with its opportunities for political observation, may be estimated by his general itinerary, which was, going west, through Chicago, St. Paul and the Canadian northwest to Vancouver, Seattle, San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego, and returning east, through Salt Lake, Omaha and Chicago.

He arrived at the Grand Central Station today at 9:40 a. m. aboard the Twentieth Century, and the train had barely stopped before he was bustling to the platform, showing the familiar smile to the company of reporters waiting to question him. Mrs. Roosevelt and Mr. McGrath, the colonel's secretary, appeared a moment later. Mrs. Roosevelt is not ill, as had been reported from Omaha. She was affected somewhat by the heat, but the colonel said all talk of a serious indisposition was nonsense.

Colonel Roosevelt good humoredly waved questioners to one side. Yes, the exposition was bully. A grand display, worthy of any man's time. How did he feel? Tip-top. A single glance was enough to confirm this. The colonel was simply glowing with good health. He had put on weight, several pounds, but he expected to work off the surplus with a little horseback riding and ax play in the seclusion of his estate.

It was no secret that Theodore Roosevelt came home happy, full of confidence and full of fight.

FUSION ASSURED

Washington and Democratic Parties Unite on a Ticket.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Democratic party held July 14, 1915, a proposition was formulated and presented to the Washington party Executive Committee and accepted by them by which the officers of the Democratic party carried to a finality and conclusion the duty committed to them by a resolution passed by the County Committee, assembled, in June, instructing them to make such arrangements with the Washington party officers as will cause a united effort against gang rule slated tickets and grafting politicians. The resolution referred to is as follows:

"Resolved, That the officers of the Democratic County Committee elected here today make such arrangements as the law and expediency will permit to unite with the Washington or Progressive party, and that these officers formulate plans and agreements in conjunction with the officers of the said Washington or Progressive party upon and to which the candidates are mutually to announce and subscribe and which will be for the best interests of the taxpayers of Bedford County."

To best convey to the party the division made and the plan of fusion agreed upon and subscribed to by both parties the proposal passed by the Democratic Party Committee is herewith submitted:

"Whereas, at a meeting of the Democratic County Committee, a resolution was adopted favoring a fusion with the Washington party.

"And, whereas, the completion of plans for carrying the foregoing resolution into effect was committed to the executive committee of the Democratic party:

"And, whereas, at the call of the Chairman of the Democratic County Committee, a meeting of the executive committee held on the 14th day of July, 1915, it was moved that the following proposition for fusion be presented to the Washington party: That the Democratic party be allotted the nomination for Treasurer, District Attorney, County Commissioners, Auditor and County Surveyor; and that the Washington party be given the nominations for Sheriff, Prothonotary, Register and Recorder and Directors of the Poor and Coroner.

"And upon the affirmation of this resolution by the Washington party executive committee, this resolution shall be binding, and such further arrangements shall be made as will complete same."

REV. J. ALBERT EYLER

To Speak at the Union Twilight Service Next Sunday Evening—Orchestra to Play.

Notwithstanding the excessive heat and the portentous clouds the usual large audience gathered upon the Public Square last Sunday evening for the Union Twilight Service. In the absence of Prof. Koontz and the orchestra, who were out of town for the day, Fred Sammel lead the opening service.

Rev. G. W. Faus of the Methodist Episcopal Church, preached from Gal. 6: 7, "Be not deceived. God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap." In the midst of his discourse a sharp flash of lightning accompanied by a loud peal of thunder created some alarm, and caused part of the audience to hasten homeward. The larger part of the audience, however, remained to the close of the service and were able to reach their homes before the storm came.

The speaker for next Sunday evening will be Rev. J. Albert Eycler of the St. John's Reformed Church. The orchestra will be present to play. Service begins at 6:45; last one hour.

Mrs. Lemon Stambaugh

Mrs. Florence Stambaugh, wife of Lemon Stambaugh, died at her home at St. Clairsville Sunday morning, of a complication of diseases, aged 50 years and five months. She is survived by her husband, two sons and three daughters: E. R. and Tessie of Altoona; Mrs. H. F. Wolfe and John of Akron, O., and Charlotte at home. The funeral service was held at her home Tuesday afternoon. Interment was made in the Reformed Church Cemetery at Osterburg.

Marriage Licenses

Levi H. Figard and Annie M. Post of Breckwood.

William Henry Miller of Napier and Tiny Pearl Garlick of Everett. Isaac B. Conner of Crystal Springs, Fulton County, and Etta B. Foor of East Providence Township.

Next Thursday, August 12, is Union Picnic day for Bedford. The business men of the town are closing "up shop" and are going to enjoy themselves in Kilcoin's Grove, east of the Narrows. All kinds of amusements are in store for everybody. Wholesome refreshments on the grounds. Good water. The country people are invited as well as those from other towns and villages. Come.

FATAL AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

Prominent Pittsburghers Dead as Result of Accident Near Ligonier on Monday.

Three prominent Pittsburghers, Alexander Dempster, wife, and son, and their chauffeur, Carl Williams of Columbus, O., are dead, as the result of an accident which occurred Monday afternoon when their automobile became uncontrollable near Mountain Inn, four miles east of Ligonier, and plunged over an embankment. Mrs. Dempster and the chauffeur were instantly killed and the elder Mr. Dempster died at the Latrobe hospital the same evening; his son the next morning.

The Dempsters were homeward bound from a trip to Baltimore. They were caught in a severe storm after leaving Ligonier on Monday and were traveling with difficulty, when the car, on reaching a curve near the Mountain Inn, caught fire. Williams made an effort to steer the machine to one side of the road, but the steering apparatus became damaged and one of the front wheels struck a rut. The strain broke the axle. The car, according to witnesses, hung suspended for an instant on the brink of the steep embankment, and then dropped over. The occupants had no time to jump. Persons reaching the scene a few minutes afterwards found the fire still burning, and soon after the bodies were extricated the machine as reduced to a mass of twisted steel.

Blair Crissey

Last Saturday Corporal Blair Crissey died at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, of blood poisoning, aged 29 years. He was a son of the late John C. and Susan Hockenberry Crissey, and was a native of Mench Thirteen years ago he enlisted in the Marine service and was among those who made a trip around the world with the United States fleet. He is survived by five brothers and five sisters.

The body was brought to Everett Monday morning, where funeral services were held on Tuesday at the home of his sister, Mrs. Harry E. Fisher. Interment was made in the Everett cemetery.

Mrs. Oscar Fisher

Mrs. Georgia Maria (Nyeum) Fisher died at her home in Newport News, Va., on Wednesday, July 14, aged 28 years. She was a daughter of William and Maria Nyeum, formerly of Everett. Besides her husband and three children, she is survived by one brother and three sisters.

Catarrh Germs Easily Killed

By Breathing into Throat, Nose and Lungs a Pure Antiseptic Air.

If you have catarrh and want to get rid of it you must kill the germs which cause the disease.

The best known way of destroying Catarrh germs is to breathe into the air passages of your nose and throat and lungs the pleasant, penetrating air of Hyomei (pronounced High-o-mey). Hyomei is made from purest oil of Eucalyptus combined with other powerful, healing, antiseptic and germicidal ingredients. You breathe it through a little pocket inhaler which F. W. Jordan, Jr., and other leading druggists in Bedford and vicinity are furnishing with every complete treatment sold. Every time you inhale the sweet, fragrant air of Hyomei through this little device you are drawing into your swollen, inflamed, germ-laden membranes a medicated air which will not only reduce all the swelling and inflammation and open your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages, but will absolutely and positively destroy every trace of Catarrh germ life it reaches. Druggists are so sure of the blessed, lasting relief that Hyomei brings to catarrh sufferers that they sell it invariably on the positive guarantee that money paid will be refunded if successful results are not secured from its use.—Ad. WASHINGTON LETTER

Interesting Notes From Our Correspondent at National Capital.

Washington, D. C., August 3.—The United States has decided to ask the cooperation of South and Central America in the next step to restore peace to Mexico. For that purpose the Ambassadors from Argentina, Brazil and Chile and the Ministers from Bolivia, Uruguay and Guatemala are going to confer with Secretary of State Lansing.

Sentiment has been growing among American officials that the next step in the Mexican situation should be one which would meet the approval of the world and should be taken in concert with the other nations of the Western Hemisphere, even if in the last event the trend should be toward military action.

It will be recalled that the Ambassadors from Argentina, Brazil and Chile were mediators in the Niagara conference in the summer of 1914. Coerced action of the South and Central American powers with the United States would be in line with President Wilson's plan for closer relationship, and is planned to show that the United States considers the Mexican question the common cause of the Pan-American group, and that this government entertains no idea of territorial aggression, but is acting solely as Mexico's nearest powerful friend and neighbor.

American military control is about to be extended over practically the entire area of Haiti, the capital of which, Port au Prince, is already in possession of American marines and bluejackets under command of Rear Admiral Caperton, who has sent word to the Navy Department that he is sending a mixed commission, including an American naval officer to the city of Cape Haitien, second in importance to Port au Prince. This commission is to bring about the disarmament of all the troops in that part of the country, government and rebel, and to bring the chief leaders to Port au Prince for a conference.

After asking for and receiving the permission of the United States government, the commander of a French cruiser has been allowed to land a detachment of French marines as a guard for the French legation in Port au Prince, Haiti. This development is viewed here as indicating not only that the United States considers itself in sole charge of the situation at the Haitian capital, but also an implication that France holds the United States solely responsible for the present situation there.

The full text of the Austrian note to this government protesting against the export of munitions of war, just published, reveals its extraordinary character. It continuously asserts that the munition experts of this country are a violation of neutrality and vaguely refers to international law in support of this contention, while it offers no sound basis for the assertion that the United States is permitting this traffic in strutting its position before the world.

Three notes from the British government and one from the Berlin

Easy Way to Make Hair Attractive

Ladies who find trouble in properly or attractively arranging and dressing their hair should try using a little Parisian Sage twice daily for a while and note the remarkable improvement. Parisian Sage, which can be obtained from F. W. Jordan, Jr., or any drug counter, makes the hair soft, lustrous, fluffy and wavy, takes out the dull, lifeless appearance, dissolves the dandruff and stimulates the hair roots into healthy normal action. Instead of merely sprinkling the hair, it should be rubbed right into the scalp with the finger tips. Parisian Sage is a delightful treatment for both hair and scalp, cannot possibly injure the hair and is very inexpensive. 30 July 21. Advertisement.

sign office, all dealing with the commercial rights of neutral nations in war time, came before Secretary Lansing almost at once. In the British notes, England's course in stopping shipments to America of manufactures from countries in Germany's possession or under her control is vigorously defended. So far as the German note is concerned, which relates to the destruction of the steamship Frye, there appears to be no question of the payment of reparation by Germany, but there is a quibbling whether it shall be paid directly by diplomatic exchanges or shall go through a prize court.

That Germany is endeavoring to avoid unnecessary harm to our shipping is shown by advices from Ambassador Gerard at Berlin to the effect that the German admiralty had informed him the neutral markings on American ships entering the European war zone were too small. It will not be surprising, however, to this government if the German reply to our last note regarding the Lusitania involves a long delay.

An interesting claim is advanced in a liquor license case now being prosecuted in the police court for this district, the attorney for the defense averring that the present excise law enforced here is invalid. He bases this contention on the ground that the enactment was signed by William Howard Taft, as President of the United States on the 4th of March, 1913, and that this signature of the enactment was unconstitutional inasmuch as Taft was not President of the United States on that date, his term of office having just expired.

Raymond O. Kleindinst, a detective connected with the Washington police department, has been sentenced to serve three years in the penitentiary. Kleindinst was convicted on charges of adultery with a woman who was also convicted of keeping a bawdy house. The charges grew out of a police raid last April on a house kept by the woman.

Chinatown in this city was set in turmoil recently when officers of the internal revenue service and the police force unexpectedly swooped down into the Oriental section in a spectacular raid. Residents of the section were seeking relief from the sweltering heat which has prevailed in Washington during the last week, by lounging at the doors of their grotesque shops when the officers appeared. A search of a suspected store revealed the presence of two large cans of opium and numerous small packages of the drug. Two Chinamen, the alleged proprietors of the establishment, were arrested. The raid wrought a miraculously quick transformation in the general aspect of Chinatown. When the officers came out of the store with their prisoners not a Chinaman was to be seen. All the shop doors were closed and windows were shut and barred.

An Oklahoma farmer's wife, having read in the press dispatches from Washington that a conscience-stricken New Yorker had recently sent $10,000 to the Treasury by way of reparation for something he had taken from the government, wrote to Secretary McAdoo asking for $1,000 of it. She said that she needed the money worse than the government did, and explained that if she got the concession she intended to purchase a cow, a Ford automobile, and a set of false teeth.

Aquaplaning is Washington's most recent innovation in the realm of sports. To enjoy properly the fascination of aquaplaning all that is necessary is a thick plank drawn by a speedy motor boat. The swimmer stands upon the plank and then the speed of the motor boat is gradually increased until the rider is fairly whizzed through the air. It takes great skill for the erect athlete to avoid a sudden ducking. The tilting of a canoe and the subsequent involuntary plunge, formerly regarded as the acme of exciting adventures on the Potomac, is now considered almost archaic as compared with the modern nautical recreation of aquaplaning.

The Secretary of State has selected as his private secretary, Richard Crane of Chicago. Mr. Crane, who will enter upon his new duties at once, is a member of the wealthy and influential Crane family of Chicago.

It is understood that President Wilson has no definite plans as to when he will return to Washington from his summer home in New Hampshire. His absence from Washington at a time critical in its nature has brought about a recurrence of suggestions that Congress ought to provide a summer home for Presidents not far from the National Capital. The suggestions go as far as the establishment of a summer capital to which Congress might go for a change when desirable. Some Congressmen advocate the purchase of Monticello, the historic home of Thomas Jefferson, at Charlottesville, while others have suggested Mount Weather in the Blue Ridge Mountains or Harpers Ferry at the confluence of the Potomac and Shenandoah

OLDER BUT STRONGER

To be healthy at seventy, prepare at forty, is sound advice, because in the strength of middle life we too often forget that neglected colds, or careless treatment of slight aches and pains, simply undermine strength and bring chronic weakness for later years.

To be stronger when older, keep your blood pure and rich and active with the strength-building and blood-nourishing properties of Scott's Emulsion which is a food, a tonic and a medicine to keep your blood rich, alleviate rheumatism and avoid sickness. No alcohol in Scott's.

Scott & Borne, Bloomfield, N. J.

In the past such suggestions have never gotten far, owing to the view that each President will prefer to make his own selection of a summer home.

CAMP SANITATION

Little Talks on Health and Hygiene by Samuel G. Dixon, M. D.

Every fisherman, the hunter and lover of Nature who turns to camp life should constitute himself a health officer for his own protection and comfort.

There are certain niceties of camp life which an experienced woodsman does not neglect but the city bred amateur who is used to daily garbage collections and open plumbing seems apt to lack sufficient ingenuity to properly improvise means to make up for the lack of these essentials.

Cooking and eating out of doors is an attraction if the process is not accompanied by swarms of flies and these are sure to appear if the wastes are not properly disposed of.

If your camp is near a stream go far enough back to be sure that heavy rains will not wash refuse into the stream, burn or dig a pit for it. Cover all the waste which goes into it with a sprinkling of chlorinated lime and then with a light covering of earth. This will insure a freedom from fly breeding and noisome odors in the hot weather.

Be careful of your water supply. If it is from a stream and there are other camps or dwellings upon it it is far wiser to boil all that is used for drinking and domestic purposes than to risk the possibility of typhoid fever. If a spring is used care should be taken that this is not open to contamination from washings of refuse or other pollutions.

If mosquitos abound for the sake of comfort and as a protection against the possibility of malarial infection, screens or netting should be used such as oil of citronella. If bitten a mixture of one part of aqua-ammonia and three parts of spirits of camphor will destroy the poison. By no means all species of mosquitos are disease carriers but they are all comfort destroyers.

These precautions are simple enough and if made a part of the regular routine of camp life they will afford a reasonable protection to the health of the occupants of the camp and may likewise serve to protect other pleasure seekers along the streams as well as the regular consumers of water for domestic use.

REAPING BENEFIT

From the Experience of Bedford People.

We are fortunate indeed to be able to profit by the experience of our neighbors. The public utterances of Bedford residents on the following subject will interest and benefit many of our readers. Read this statement. No better proof can be had.

Miss Mollie Spidel, 172 Spring St., Bedford, says: "I had a severe attack of kidney trouble and suffered greatly from backache and rheumatic pains in my arms and limbs. I had headaches and dizzy spells. I tried many remedies, but found no relief until I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Dull's Drug Store. They relieved me of the backaches and rheumatic pains, the headaches and dizzy spells left and I was greatly benefited in every way. I have not had any symptoms of the trouble since."

The Country Club Movement
During recent years thousands of clubs have been formed for enjoyment of athletic sports and country life. To a large extent these clubs are formed to provide grounds for the game of golf, but other sports and pastimes are included. Fresh air and invigorating sport have been provided for a host of people.

Like all other phases of American life, many of these country clubs have their incongruous aspects. The first of them were quite simple. People went out there in their old clothes, played golf and tennis, studied botany, got up informal picnics, and lived close to the soil.

The typical country club of the larger cities today is a very different affair. If the members ever need their store togs and glad rags, it is when they go to the country club where the swells of the town do congregate. Far, far away are fled the nature lovers. Instead one sees richly gowned women playing bridge for handsome prizes of silverware. The men prance around in outing garments designed by the most select tailors.

It is natural enough for wealthy people to spend their money as they please. It is no other person's business if they do erect a hundred thousand dollar casino in place of the simple old shed where the original golfers used to store their clubs. But many smaller and less wealthy places make a mistake in feeling that they must also play the game of country life in an equally costly and formal manner.

It is hard to keep any kind of club life simple and inexpensive. The more prosperous members become envious of the privileges of more elaborate organizations. Ten or twenty or fifty dollars additional for dues is nothing to them, and they can't see why it should be anything to other people.

The popular athletic sports of the day need not be costly. A couple of hundred people almost anywhere who desire such country sports could club together and maintain golf links and tennis courts in a simple way for annual dues of $10 each. It is the luxuries of club houses and restaurants that cost rather than the essentials of these games.

Stomach Troubles Quickly Cured
People go on suffering from little stomach troubles for years, and imagine they have a serious disease. They over-eat or over-drink and force on the stomach a lot of extra work, but they never think that the stomach needs extra help to do the extra work. If these people would take Tonline Tablets regularly they would be a great big help to the stomach in its strain of over-work. No matter what you eat or drink Tonline Tabs sweeten your sour stomach and stop gas belching in five minutes. The heaviness disappears, and the stomach is greatly aided in its work of digestion.

Tonline
Tablets not only promptly relieve all distress, but if taken regularly will absolutely cure indigestion by building up the flabby, overworked walls of the stomach and make them strong enough to digest the most hearty meal. $1 for a 50 days' treatment. Fashion Finds Inspiration Military and Otherwise

Midsummer Functions Bring Out Suits in Two Materials and Dance Frocks Pointed at the Lower Edge

Paris Takes Up the Italian Cock's Plume

New York, August 4, 1915.

Have you seen the new suits in two materials? They are quite the rage, with their jaunty, flaring coats in one, and swagger skirts in another material which is totally different. To see them, one must take a run down to Long Beach some afternoon, or slip over to Newport and stroll by the Casino in the morning. They are worth seeing, as they come now fresh from Paris and are worn by New York's smart society. It is an opportunity of a lifetime. Never has such style been displayed on our own shores. They only wait—these fashionable people, politely bored by the things at home—for the war to cease, that they may winter or summer, as chance may be, on the other side of the great Atlantic. Now the modes are brought to them. If they cannot be at Monte Carlo, Trouville or D'Eauville, they will at least wear here what they would have worn there.

Blue and White Serges, Checks and Worsted in Combination

Paris' first venture for the fall is accepted with open arms on this side of the Atlantic. Perchance, it is because her venture is suits, for Paris knows well the American woman's weakness for the strictly tailored. It's a clever idea, this showing of

Paris Sends Suits in Two Materials and Tacks the Italian Cock's Plume to the Latest Hat

jaunty little jacket-suits before plunging into long coats and heavy skirts for cold weather. The serges are especially summery, as they appear in combinations of blue and white. Most noticeable was a suit worn by one of a party of ladies at Long Beach last Sunday—a distinctly military type in cut. The coat of dark blue serge, patterned on straight lines, with a high collar like the dress of the cadet, braiding and all. The skirt was of fine white serge, a bit scantier in width than the usual run of things, with a strip of broad white Hercules braid at the side seam. With this, she wore a broad, straight-brimmed, blue chiffon sailor, with a scarf of the chiffon edged with beads for trimming, dubbed, for its keen resemblance, the "Boy Scout."

We hear from Paris that the idea of two materials in one suit will be carried out in checked and plain, and striped and plain worsteds; already there is a showing of these models by the exclusive shops. Unlike the serges, the coats of these suits are usually belted and are amply supplied with patch pockets, more like the khaki suits worn by soldiers. One model just received from the other side is made in this style, with a plain full skirt. The coat is of dark brown worsted and the skirt, collar, belt and cuffs of a two-toned brown check.

Enter the Hat of the Italian Bersi- liere

The suit is given the honor place in the window of one of our great department stores and with it is shown the hat of the Italian bersagliere. Whether or not this hat will be popular remains to be seen. As it appears in black velvet, with slightly tilted brim, stiff high crown and drooping cock's plume at the side, it is a bit trying to the average. It takes a daring person to wear it at the necessary forty-five degree slant to give it style. That Paris has taken it up is a fact. We hear from this city: "One of the very smartest little Parisiennes appeared a day or so ago at the Ambassadeurs wearing not only the bersagliere hat with its flowing cock's plume at the side, but also a frock of Tyrolian-striped taffeta, with a short, plain, surplice corse in Italian green silk."

Bracelet Handbags

The mode has remained somber already too long. This is evident in the accessories that are being shown with the midsummer suits. Handbags are especially frivolous. Not only do they appear in brilliant silks with gate-tops, but leather bags, too, tend decidedly toward fancy effects. White kid is favored, alone or in combination with black patent leather or pale blue. These are usually in the gathered bags. The latest novelty is a black kid bag, with an imitation tortoise-shell frame and bracelet to hold it by. It is lined with black-and-white striped moire and a mirror is introduced in the form of a semi-circle mounted on an inside gold-plate frame.

Colored Fourchettes in Silk Gloves

Silk gloves, too, are more elaborate than in past seasons. The introducing of the colored fourchettes between the fingers is one of the new ways of making the white glove match the costume. The gloves are usually made in gauntlet style, with the strips between the fingers black, dark blue, or green, with the buttons and, perhaps, a vent in the cuff section of the same shade. The idea is finding favor, and it is rumored that the kid gloves imported for the fall will also show these contrasting colors in even more elaborate effects.

Dance Frocks Pointed

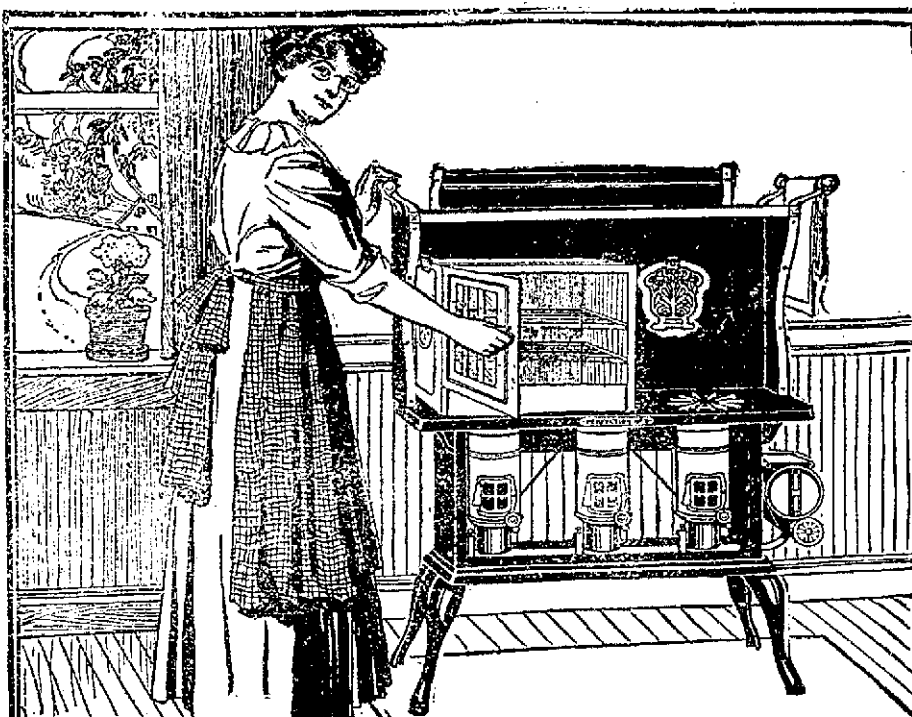

Dance Fashion is not confining herself solely to the military. The Colonial contributes its share to the present-day modes in dance frocks. These, too, diverge somewhat from the simplicity which marked their entry a season ago. One of the new frocks worn at a midweek dance showed how effectively the pointed trimming can be carried out in a dress of this type. The dress was made wholly of tulle bound in silk. The waist was a delicate blue, with neck edge and deep sleeve ruffle bound in rose silk. A broad girde of the same material finished the waist, and the skirt, cut in deep points at the lower edge, was of the blue tulle bound with the silk, which made it twist and billow out until the points were almost indistinguishable. Below the first skirt there was yet another, and another, of the tulle, pointed at the lower edge and bound with the silk. The first layer was rose and then under that the blue again, giving a veiled rainbow effect.

Is Your Kitchen A Living Furnace?

Madam, there's absolutely no reason why it should be. You don't have to put up with this another minute. Instead of roasting yourself to death over a stove that sheds heat like the sun at high noon in August, get an oil stove that sends the heat right to the vessels you want heated and not all over the kitchen. Go today and buy a and you're buying cooking comfort and economy. You cut out that "tired feeling" caused by the ash pan, the coal scuttle and wood splitting, and that's a relief to any woman who has two or three meals to prepare every day. You get a stove that is ready for instant use because it lights like gas and regulates like gas, and, with the separate oven and fireless cooker, is equal to a gas stove in cooking power. You can broil, bake, fry, roast, boil, heat water for wash day and irons for ironing day. And you're saving money every minute it's not in use.

Just stop in at your local dealer's and ask him to show you the New Perfection Oil Cook Stove and see the perfected oil reservoir, the regulated flame control, the combustion chimneys that prevent smoke and smell and the improved wick that outlasts the ordinary kind. You'll be surprised to learn how decidedly safe, sane, saving and satisfying this cook stove really is.

the front there was a wee bunch of rosebuds and foliage in the place of a buckle—for all the world like a buttonhole bouquet in a new place. This same idea is carried out in all shades of slippers. They are certainly charming with the dance frocks, these delicate blue, pink, yellow and white slippers, each with its bud or cluster of blossoms at the toe.

Fans Dolly Varden

It is only natural that the fan should accord with the rest of the costume. Now that the skirts are voluminous to the extreme of fullness and waist plain; tight and basque-like, fans return to the Dolly Varden ivories and pattern creations. They are coquettish despite their diminutive size, the bright, painted crinoline figures giving a certain gaiety to their aspect. One of the novelties is a fan of this type of ivory, with an ivory bracelet to slip over the arm.

Evening Wraps Veiled

The wraps designed to wear with the costume have nothing of the crinoline simplicity. They are three-quarter, loose and flowing, or striped and figured satin, veiled with white and colored chiffon. Square, deep collars predominate, edged with black velvet or a bit of fur.

POLITICAL CALENDAR

August 21—Last day to file petition to get your name on primary ballot.

August 31—Last day to file petitions in office of County Commissioners.

September 1 and 2—Assessors sit at polls again to register voters for general election.

September 3—Assessors make return to County Commissioners of voters.

September 21—Primary election.

November 2—General election.

Victor Murdock, Progressive National Chairman, declares that they will have a ticket in the field in 1916 and that the West is in hearty accord with Progressive principles and will battle this fall for predominance. Roosevelt's 30,000 audience is a fore-runner of his popularity in the West and he will be at the front in 1916 for Governor Johnston of California for President. Murdock predicts a victory. Murdock says the Republicans are more reactionary than ever and will adopt the Payne-Aldrich Tariff bill for their slogan which will kill any chances for any return of the Progressives.

The executive committees of the Democratic and Washington parties have united on an agreement of fusion. Both parties will have a complete ticket in the field.

The Washington party at the general election will have candidates for Sheriff, Poor Directors, Prothonotary and Register and Recorder, while the Democrats will have candidates for County Treasurer, County Commissioners, Auditors, Coroner and District Attorney.

This is a conscientious division of the spoils and there was no battling for places. Everything was done on a completely harmonious and amicable adjustment, no bickerings, no bluffing nor arguments. Both parties heartily agreed to the arrangements and mean to stand by the coalition. "In union there is strength." United we stand; divided we fall.

LABORERS FOR THE HARVEST

Every year in July there goes up the annual cry for the laborers who shall harvest the crops. In the grain country the railroad trains filled with harvest hands on their way to work are a sight. All types of humanity can be found there.

There are bright faced, eager college boys anxious to help pay their tuition, blear eyed drunks out of the city for long enough to acquire the funds for the next spree. There are tramps of the type known on the road as "gay cats." They take seasonal jobs for a few weeks to gain a few dollars, intending to spend the rest of the year in vagrancy. It is a motley crew. The farmer has to take anything he can get, and few questions can be asked.

In good times it may seem at the start almost impossible to get the extra help. Yet somehow or other it is secured, and the crops are successfully garnered. The number of workers that can be drawn into the agricultural districts for a short time job is a revelation of the number of seasonal workers. It shows that a great many families must be depending on men whose means of livelihood is very intermittent and precarious.

According to social students, many of these seasonal workers, who are depended on as harvest hands in summer, are men of low mentality, who could not hold regular jobs. No doubt many of them are the victims of parental vice, crime or ignorance. They never acquired education enough to make themselves of anything more than emergency value.

Socialists will say that this indicates that there is a great quantity of surplus labor, which owing to the abuses of capitalism can find no regular employment. But in most cases there is probably a lack of fitness for regular tasks. Usually the man who is capable of regular work gets it, subject of course to the vicissitudes of occasional business depression. But it is an indication of social disease when so large a supply of unemployed laborers can be so readily secured.

CHILD LIFE IN VACATION

For many weeks school children long for their annual summer holiday. They dream of the days when they shall once more wander free from all restraints. Yet as a matter of fact, many of them spend their time hanging around and asking their mothers what they shall do next.

The lawless and irresponsible freedom of vacation is a detriment to many children. They become petulant if asked to give an hour a day to little tasks for the family convenience. Yet they are able to take long jaunts and play incessantly in the sun. Children that seem perfectly well and self controlled in the regular discipline of school term, often become irritable and nervous in vacation, at a time when they are supposed to be receiving benefit from out door life and mental relaxation.

It is the opinion of educators and social workers that the modern child has little to do. In modern town life, there may be no task left for them to perform. The custom of regular work seems to have gone out of fashion. One child frets if required to mow the lawn or sweep the walks while the other children are roaming the streets.

A high school principal was speaking the other day of the bad effects of the loafing habit on the older children. He felt it so keenly that he got the boys of his school to agree to pay a fine of five cents each time they were seen loafing around the street corners by a teacher. The assessment was paid to the athletic association of the school, so all felt good natured about it. It practically cured street loafing by the boys of that school.

The trouble with the idea was that it applied only on Saturdays and after school during term time. During summer vacation, teachers scattered and the young folks could hang around the streets to their hearts content. But parents may well consider the suggestion as a vacation policy. A little regular work for school pupils during vacation will often save the younger children from getting over tired at strenuous plays, and will help prepare the older ones for more serious responsibilities later on.

WOMEN'S LIBERTY BELL

Address on Public Square.

The Liberty Bell on its tour through Pennsylvania reached Bedford Tuesday morning, instead of Saturday evening as expected. The cause of delay was a broken truck and the heavy storm that made the roads impassable for travel. On arriving here the truck containing the bell went immediately to the Bedford Garage, where an enthusiastic crowd greeted it. Miss Louise Hall, a State speaker, with two other workers and her brother, who acted as chauffeur, composed the party.

The Novelty Photo and Amusement Company wagon, decorated with yellow pennants, gathered a crowd for the meeting on the Square at noon. Standing on the truck with the Liberty Bell, Miss Hall delivered a very excellent and enlightening speech on Woman's Suffrage. She said an argument against giving women the ballot, is that woman's place is in the home and that she should have nothing to do with politics. Miss Hall assured her hearers that women had to accept bad politics in the home through contaminated drinking water, impure canned goods, infected meat and ready-to-wear clothing made in infected tenements. She answered all other arguments against woman's suffrage in a very telling way.

From here the bell went, by the way of Osterburg and Fishertown, to Altoona, where a great demonstration awaited it.

Rev. E. M. Adair, Ph. D.

Rev. Emmet Mansfield Adair, Ph. D., died at his home in Tiffin, O., Thursday evening, July 22, aged 51 years. He had been gradually failing in health for nearly two years. The immediate cause of his death was hardening of the arteries. Deceased was born in Leesville, O., in 1864, and was an only son of the late Hon. William Adair, who, during his term in the State Legislature, became the author of the Adair temperance law of Ohio. He is survived by his mother, wife, two sons and one daughter.

During his pastoral work, he served the Sulphur Springs Reformed Church four years very successfully. He was a member of several fraternal organizations, and was held in high esteem by all.

The funeral service was conducted at his late residence on Saturday, July 24. Interment was made in the Greenlawn Cemetery at Tiffin.

"A Patriotic Love Feast."

Henrietta, Pa., Aug. 4, 1915.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

Today I attended the farmers' picnic near this place, where thousands of farmers and their wives and children were assembled. The suffragists and the anti-suffragists were there, and both sides of the suffrage question were discussed. Mrs. E. E. Kiernan, of Somerset, spoke for the suffragists, and Mrs. O. D. Oliphant, a national anti-suffrage speaker, spoke for the ladies who are opposing votes for women.

When Mrs. Oliphant referred to the suffrage liberty bell she said: "Just for a minute I want to speak of the suffrage liberty bell. I want to say, that is a counterfeit bell; a gigantic joke. Last night in Altoona the suffrage speaker [Miss Louise Hall] sneeringly said the original liberty bell is a half-cracked bell, and that there is no crack in the woman's liberty bell. I resent that characterization of our precious liberty bell. Every inch of that crack is sacred to every good American. That bell cracked with its joyous message of freedom and liberty, and the suffrage speaker's mean interpretation of that precious relic is un-American to say the least. In speaking of the bell that is the symbol of our liberty and freedom, the suffrage speaker said 'that cracked bell only gave liberty to the men of this State, and this bell of ours will give freedom to the women of this State.' Such a statement as that is not only foolish, but treasonable. Treason to the memory of the men of '76 who fought and died, not selfishly, as the suffragettes picture for themselves, but for all of us, and they have left that heritage to all men, women and children, not only of this State, but of the whole country. I resent this emotional caricature by the suffragists of the most precious emblem we Americans possess—resent the suggestion both implied by the trundling of this counterfeit bell through the State, and the suffrage statement that their bell is not cracked, and that the half-cracked bell which the whole country paid homage to in its recent trip to San Francisco rang out originally only freedom for the men of our country. I believe that the men of Pennsylvania will show their resentment to the spectacular caricature and treasonable attitude toward the only liberty bell that is truly American, by voting no on woman suffrage next November."

Mrs. Oliphant's patriotic and logical address was frequently applauded, but when the little woman referred to the counterfeit liberty bell, the men and women showed their approval with applause that was long and loud. Some shouted "Good!" To the writer of this sketch it was a patriotic love feast.

GEORGE M. MANN.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Isaac T. Detwiler

Isaac T. Detwiler, a well known resident of South Woodbury Township, died at the home of his son, Jerry Detwiler, at New Enterprise, Monday evening, July 26, aged 70 years. He was born on the farm now owned by Charles Kagarise in Bloomfield Township, and was a son of Daniel and Elizabeth Teeter Detwiler. He is survived by five sons and two daughters: Jerry, Charles, Preston, Ira, Mrs. Scott Koozitz and Mrs. Orlo Blough of New Enterprise, and John Detwiler of Greenfield Township, Blair County. One brother and one sister are also living: Elder David T. Detwiler of New Enterprise and Mrs. Sarah Bayer of Ashland, O.

The funeral service was held at the Church of Brethren, New Enterprise, Thursday morning, July 29, conducted by Elder L. T. Holsinger. Interment was made in the cemetery nearby.

THE REPUBLICAN PROMISES

Promised Everything, Even Down as Low as School Director and Township Supervisor to Cajole the Progressives Back Into the G. O. P. Camp.

A Few Returned on This Small Bait But Eyes Will be Opened in Future.

The G. O. P. leaders played every trick to get the Washington party workers to return to their loving arms. They promised them all kinds of "paw" and soothing syrup. They doped them with promises to put them up for Justices of the Peace, Judges of Election, Auditors, and even got down to the insignificant office of School Director or Township Supervisor. They mailed each one an enrolling slip that he may have it at his most convenient convenience to place his name on the toboggan slide. They sent agents around and canvassed each and everyone, big and little, to ask that he crawl into the band wagon. They appointed sub-committees in the country districts with the hope that a little grease of that kind would slicken them up a little. The papers who once damned them got on their knees and plead and begged and held out the tastiest candies to get them back into the heavenly household. They got candidates to announce who had extreme friends in the Progressive ranks and required these candidates to go to their friends and ask them to return to save the day for them. They mean to lick the candidate and embarrass his friends. We are interested to know whether the G. O. P. means to shelve Hillegass or Baker for Poor Director. Only two can be nominated.

Christian Crouse Long

The people of New Buena Vista and vicinity were greatly shocked on Thursday of last week by the sudden death of their fellow townsman, Crouse Long. "Uncle Crouse," as he was familiarly known, always was a very active man and was stricken suddenly while at work at his blacksmith shop and life was extinct within a few minutes. Medical aid was called quickly and the cause of his death was pronounced heart failure.

Christian Crouse Long, a son of Amos and Lydie Long, was born February 22, 1836, and died July 29, 1915, aged 79 years, five months and seven days. His wife, Elizabeth Hartman Long, preceded him to the spiritual world 12 years ago. He is survived by three sisters: Mrs. Ellen Garber and Mrs. L. C. Markel of New Buena Vista, and Mrs. Annie Garber of Hyndman; also by C. Howard Long of Mannington, W. Va., his nephew and niece whom he fathered from childhood.

The funeral services were conducted at the Reformed Church in New Buena Vista by his pastor, Rev. Rose of Schellsburg. Interment was made in the Schellsburg Cemetery.

NON-PARTISAN

For Judge of the Courts of Common Pleas for the Twentieth Judicial District

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for Judge of the Courts of Common Pleas of the Twentieth Judicial District, subject to the decision at the non-partisan primaries to be held September 21, 1915.

THOMAS F. BAILEY,
Huntingdon, Pa.

President Judge

I hereby respectfully announce myself as a candidate on the non-partisan primary ballot for the office of Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of the Twentieth Judicial District, composed of the Counties of Huntingdon, Bedford and Mifflin, at the Primary Election to be held on Tuesday, September 21, 1915.

With the experience of more than twenty-three years practice in the several Courts of the Commonwealth, including the Appellate Courts, together with the exercise of industry and care and with fidelity to the discharge of the duties of this important office, if elected, I feel I can promise to the people of the District entire justice with impartiality and that the decrees of the Courts shall be moulded according to law and based upon its precepts in their proper interpretation. The public can be assured that my constant effort shall be to so administer the principles of justice that reversals by the higher Courts shall be prevented thus saving expense and burdensome taxation to both the litigant and taxpayer. The influence and support of voters irrespective of party are earnestly solicited.

FREDERICK W. CULBERTSON,
Lewistown, Pa.

For Judge of the Courts of Common Pleas of the 20th Judicial District

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for Judge of the Courts of Common Pleas of the 20th Judicial District, subject to the decision at the non-partisan primaries to be held September 21, 1915.

JOSEPH M. WOODS.

Associate Judge

I hereby respectfully announce myself as a candidate for Associate Judge, subject to the decision at the non-partisan primaries to be held September 21, 1915.

A. I. LYON,
Bedford, Pa.

I announce as a candidate on the non-partisan ballot for Associate Judge. My record during my present term shows how I kept my pledge on the license question, and I submit my candidacy to the electors of the county upon the same platform. Voters of all political parties and those not enrolled in any party are entitled to a non-partisan ticket at the primary, and I respectfully solicit your support.

J. W. HUFF,
Saxton, Pa.

To the Voters of Bedford County:

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination of Associate Judge. As a native of Bedford County, and as a taxpayer for over forty years, I ask your support, and assure the public that no backward step shall be taken on all social and economic lines. Those who know me will testify that I canvassed Bedford County in favor of the prohibition amendment twenty-five years ago, and I have not gone back. Your vote and influence are solicited.

J. G. KRICHBAUM.

County Auditor

I wish to announce myself as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for County Auditor. I earnestly solicit your vote and influence.

FRANK P. BARTON,

Forces to Be Destroyed.

The forces of nature we must endeavor to avoid. Working blindly as they do we can do nothing to overcome them. At most we can avoid their destructive influence and alleviate the suffering they give rise to. But the forces that are thrust out by ourselves, that spring from our own minds, must be controlled and overcome. They are primitive. They are brutal. They are animal forces. Against these we must direct our energies.

Her Waist Measure.

A teacher in one of the city schools—who, to say the least, is of rather generous proportions—was trying to explain to her scholars the correct measurements of the human frame. "For example," she said, "twice around my throat, once around my wrist; twice around my wrist, once around my neck, once around my waist." Then she paused, and a shrill voice from the back of the room exclaimed, "Twice around yer waist, once around the city hall."

Russian Clergy.

There are two classes of Russian clergy, the white clergy and the black clergy. The former officiate in the parish churches, the latter only in monasteries.

When the Whistle Blew.

Little John saw a small tug towing a large ship, and heard the tug whistle loudly. "Oh, papa," he cried, "the big boat's got the little one by the tail and it's scawling."

Imbertown

August 3—The older residents of our town say that Monday's rain caused the highest water ever known here. Considerable damage was done to almost everyone's property. The people on Main Street were compelled to move their live stock from the barns. The large wooden bridge south of town was washed away.

J. M. Barley was in Altoona on Sunday.

Mrs. Daugherty and daughter of Altoona are visiting the former's brother, Charles Theurauch.

Frank H. Imber and family of near Tomlinson School spent Sunday in our Community.

Mrs. Hafer of Cumberland Valley, who spent the past week here with her daughter, Mrs. John C. Stickler, returned home on Wednesday.

Ephraim.

Clearville

August 3—Miss Hazel Fletcher of Chapman's Run made a trip to our village on Thursday.

Henry Diehl and daughter, Miss Carrie, of Charlottesville, after visiting relatives in Monroe Township for almost a week, returned to their home on Thursday.

Mrs. David Conner and daughter, Mrs. Jonas uparks, of Black Valley were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Weimer at this place on Thursday.

C. C. Sparks of Black Valley was noticed in this place on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson and Miss Ruth McClain of Point Marion, who had been visiting in our village as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Karns for a fortnight, departed for their home last Thursday morning.

Hiram Hann of this place built a stable on his lot lately.

George Grubb of this place started with his threshing outfit Monday morning en route to the Henry Snyder farm to thresh the crop of Harvey Cornell.

Miss Mary Barkman, after being in Cumberland for almost two weeks to have her eyes treated by a specialist, returned to her home at this place on Monday.

Miss Clemma Stayer, who assisted Postmaster A. D. tayer since he had the office, was succeeded on Monday by Miss Nellie Mearkle of Route 1.

Frank H. and Harry I. O'Neal, Gideon and family drove to Mench Saturday morning to attend the picnic there. Thursday evening the lightning had struck the Mench school house. The bolt hit the flagpole and splintered it, then down to the top of the door, then left to the window and on down to the ground tearing off all the weatherboards below the window and breaking several panes of glass. The picnic was a good one; good picnic weather, good fellowship, good music and an excellent dinner. The program follows: Selections of music by S. H. Koontz' orchestra of Bedford; song by the Grange choir of Mench; prayer by Rev. D. G. Hetrick; music by the orchestra until the dinner was placed in order on a long table. Dinner hour 1 to 2 o'clock. Afternoon Session—Music by orchestra; song by the Grange choir; address by Gideon; address by John A. McSparran of Lancaster, State Master of the Grange, who spoke on the benefits of the Grange; music by the orchestra, followed by a social hour of exchanging greetings with friends and getting acquainted. The thunder shower that came at 5:30 o'clock scattered the crowd in a hurry.

Schellsburg

August 3—Howard Long, son and daughter of Alliance, O., are visiting relatives here at present.

The hardest rain storm for a number of years visited this section Monday afternoon doing lots of damage.

Misses Marie and Thelma Long spent a few days recently at Bard, as guests of their brother, R. A. Long, and family. Mrs. Laura Long spent Saturday afternoon at the same place.

The Woman's Liberty Bell did not arrive here until late Monday night. They put up for the night at S. B. Whetstone's and Mrs. Laura Long's, leaving for Bedford Tuesday morning, after making addresses on the square.

The game of baseball played at Buffalo Mills between our boys and the team at that place was another victory for the Schellsburg boys.

Mrs. Hubert Colvin returned on Sunday from a visit with relatives at Johnstown.

Mrs. George Culp and daughter returned Sunday from a short visit at Windber.

Mrs. Annie Culp is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Upton Brant, of Dry Ridge.

Charles Van Ormer, Quinsey Shaffer and Blair Shaffer went to Cairnbrook this week to build a house for Henry Hilleglass of New Buena Vista.

W. E. COREY, EX-PRESIDENT OF
U. S. STEEL CORPORATION,
PREDICTS THREE MORE YEARS OF WAR

Praises President Wilson

A prediction of W. E. Corey that the war will last at least three more years is hailed with universal regret all over the United States. Coming from a man of such business ability and one close to the big business of the country means more than any prediction by myriads of "small fry" and theorists.

The country believes that big business is partially responsible for the war and its continuance as it profits by these catastrophes. To get a judgment from one who has the inner circle and who came from France recently, the seat of war, and the great centre of demand for financial credit, which possibly Mr. Corey was observing and catering to is significant. He says the countries are preparing for a long continued warfare and before the war is over all countries concerned will be reaching to the United States for securities. Mr. Corey's words follow:

"The allies are going to fight to a finish. They are now preparing for a war of at least three years' further duration. This is a war of chemistry and mechanics.

"The allies will make every effort to keep the friendship of America, and if the war continues as long as I expect it to, the allied countries will have to float war loans in America.

"As for the United States, the only way of keeping ourselves out of trouble is to maintain an army and navy the equal of any in Europe. It would take us two years to get in shape to fight a European power on even terms. At present about all we could do would be, possibly, to defeat Spain or Portugal."

Corey, who is a Republican, praised President Wilson.

"It is masterly the way he has kept us out of war," said the steel man. "He will eventually be called one of our ablest and greatest presidents."

New Paris

August 3—Mrs. Irene Ralston is visiting relatives at Wilmerding.

John Otto of Altoona was visiting home friends over Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Nelle Cuppett is spending a two-weeks' vacation with friends in Harrisburg.

Mrs. Lottie Sullivan of Steubenville, O., is visiting relatives in this locality at present.

Our town and vicinity was well represented at M. E. Day last Thursday at Lakemont.

Mrs. J. A. Ralston and son James of Wilmerding are the guests of Mrs. Ralston's mother, Mrs. Laura Blackburn.

Our band boys furnished the music for the union Sunday School picnic at Fishertown on Saturday and report a pleasant time. They have been employed to play at a similar picnic at Ryot on Saturday, August 7.

On Thursday, July 29, Lloyd G. Zimmers and Miss Cora E. Weyant were united in matrimony by Rev. J. Winwood at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Weyant. They were given a serenade on Friday evening by the New Paris Cornet Band.

An Admonition

Hyndman, Pa., Aug 2, 1915.
Editor of Gazette Pub. Co.:

I wish you would cease publishing women suffrage in my paper as I am very tired of reading it.

Furthermore, I am very glad to see that Bedford has at least one man who knows what he is doing.

That is Mr. George M. Mann.

Men who claim the women should have a vote, must not read that very important book, the Bible. If they read that book they will see that men are to be at the head of the women, as Christ is at the head of men.

Yours respectfully,
Mr. A. J. Shroyer.

For the benefit of our esteemed reader and others interested we will say that the suffrage bell came to town on Tuesday. It got stranded somewhere on the Alleghenias and could not proceed until it got fixed.

Some one suggested that it got out of commission close to Hughes' but the joke was not tenable. On Tuesday noon a small gathering paid tribute to her chained silence on the Public Square by listening to an eloquent speech by one of the party.

August 4—About five inches of rain fell here Monday afternoon doing considerable damage to fields and crops. Several bridges were washed away.

Mr. and Mrs. James Miller and daughter Edna of Wolfsburg visited Mr. Miller's sister, Mrs. J. T. Anderson, on Sunday. Mrs. Anderson has been in ill health for some time. She is somewhat improved.

Those who took in the excursion from Cessna on Sunday to Lakemont Park were: Russell Miller, Howard Bush, Earl Hinton, Alfred Anderson, Harry Studebaker, Harry Culp, Mrs. George Miller and daughter Irene, Mrs. Heart Bush and Irene Anderson.

J. T. Anderson and J. B. Roberts were at Ryot on Tuesday where the former was engaged in viewing a road.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Heltzel, Mrs. M. L. Shaffer and Miss Ruth Bloom spent from Sunday until Tuesday in Baltimore. They made the trip overland in Mr. Heltzel's car.

Miss Clara Reiswick is visiting her sister, Mrs. George Stillier, at Eldorado.

B. F. Dively of Everett, superintendent of highways of Bedford County, was through here on Tuesday inspecting the roads and damaged bridges. He gave orders for repairs on the same.

Mr. and Mrs. William Fickes and daughter Lillian of St. Clairsville spent Monday night with Mrs. Fickes' parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Anderson.

Alvin Young of Bedford was a pleasant caller here on Sunday.

Frank Hershberger is improving the appearance of his property by building a porch to the two sides of his house.

Mrs. William Sherman of Altoona was the guest of Wilson Hissong and family on Sunday. She was accompanied home by her daughter, Miss Helen, who spent the past week here.

The ladies who were guests at the home of Mrs. W. J. McCollin last Thursday report having a good time in renewing old acquaintances and partaking of the fine dinner which Mrs. McCollin prepared. The table did not groan under the immense weight, but was actually provided with an extra brace to support the substantial and dainties placed thereon. Those present were Mrs. Grace Shorter and daughter Cleo of Paterson, N. J.; Mrs. Dora Geary of Washington, D. C., and daughter, Mrs. Daisie Middlemiss, of Philadelphia; Mrs. William Snell, Sr., and two daughters, Misses Virginia and Catherine, of Bedford; Mrs. J. D. Wolf of Wolfsburg and Mrs. Jay Blackburn and Mrs. Mary McCollin of Cessna.

Right Up Among the Live Wires

The hardy lads who hold down the lineman's job are keen for a tobacco that has a rich, sweet, mellow flavor—something that's man-size and all there—something that makes a he-man feel like a live wire. And that is

FIVE BROTHERS

Pipe Smoking Tobacco

We've spent fifty years and millions of dollars creating tobacco brands. And we know that the reason FIVE BROTHERS pleases the hearty smoker or chewer is because its quality is honest and its value the biggest.

We use the pure Southern Kentucky leaf in FIVE BROTHERS. We carefully age it for three to five years so as to bring out its full richness. The process can't be hurried. So you see no other tobacco can be the same as FIVE BROTHERS and FIVE BROTHERS itself can never vary in quality.

No matter what tobacco you may be using now, just try FIVE BROTHERS for a week, and see if FIVE BROTHERS doesn't give you greater satisfaction, day in and day out, working or resting, chewing or smoking, outdoors or indoors. By the end of the week you'll be a permanent user of FIVE BROTHERS.

THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

The Walnut Grove Campmeeting

Evangelistic services will commence on the campground on Monday, August 9. Rev. J. A. Tinker will have charge of these services. He asks the co-operation of all. Camp proper commences August 13, closes with old time walk around, August 22. Saturday, August 14, at 2:30 p. m. there will be an address by a prominent advocate of the right of women to vote. Sunday, the 15th, at 10:30 a. m., Rev. W. J. Winfield (colored), of Newville, a prominent anti-saloon worker, will preach. Tuesday, the 17th, 10:30 and 2:30, Mrs. Parsells will lecture. It is a rare treat to have such a prominent temperance worker and we urge a large attendance. Thursday at 2:30 p. m. Mrs. N. W. Burtner of Huntingdon will speak as the representative of the W. C. T. U. Saturday, the 21st, will be memorial day and at 2:30 p. m. a service will be held for those who have died since camp of 1914.

On Sunday, August 22, S. G. Yahn, D. D., editor of the Church Advocate, Harrisburg, will preach at 10:30 a. m. Rev. W. A. Spies is musical director. Mrs. Julia Ramsey will have charge of the Children's Services. Rev. F. W. McGuire is general manager. The address of all during camp is Maddenville.

Other ministers who will be present are C. D. Collins, E. F. Asper, R. E. Seyler, Revs. Lilly, Benson, Baird and the Baptist pastor of Three Springs. The camp hotel is open. Tents are moving on the ground. An automobile will run from camp to Three Springs. Inquire for the camp automobile.

Improvements have been made on the ground and the State inspector, who visited the grounds last week, pronounced them in an ideal sanitary condition. State police will be present to preserve order. No drunken or disorderly persons will be allowed on the ground. Persons coming to the camp are requested to drive above the tents. All ground below the tents are reserved for tents. Ample room for automobiles and rigs will be found above the tents.

Miss L. S. T.: A complexion, marvelous for its clearness, pinky whiteness and softness, will be produced by the liberal use of rosetone. Rub this cream on the entire face liberally. Let the cream dry on the face. Repeat this again at night. Any good druggist will sell you an ounce of rosetone.—Adv. 16 July 41.

1916 Auto Tags to be Orange and Black

Harrisburg, July 29—Pennsylvania licensed automobiles will display orange and black license tags in 1916, according to an announcement made today by Highway Commissioner R. J. Cunningham.

The plates will have a background of orange with black letters. They will be made of rolled steel and lined and buffed so as to remove all scales and will then be covered with flexible enamel, while the letters and figures will be made with dies so that they will stand out more clearly than those made simply by colored enamel.

The specifications have been changed so that plates may be bent without cracking the enamel. The department is asking for bids of 349,599 plates. Thirty-five thousand chauffeur badges will also be bought.

Persistence in Advertising

The man who is starting in on an advertising campaign frequently fails to appreciate the necessity of persistence. He is more apt to pay for a big splurge for a few numbers, and then quit for a time. The general trend of advertising opinion is that a smaller space used regularly pays better.

The results of advertising come in one of two ways. A buyer may have in mind some particular purchase that it is desired to make at that time. The newspaper is searched to see what merchants are advertising in that line. The most attractive offerings are noted in the memory. The customer visits those stores. While this is the kind of thing that happens every day, it is not the whole result or effect of advertising by any means.

The other result is the creation of a general impression that a certain merchant is enterprising and is using much effort and intelligence to give good values. That kind of advertising is cumulative, the outcome of driving a certain idea into the public mind day after day. A woman may read advertisements for many weeks, and not buy anything in a certain line, simply because she is already supplied with those goods.

All at once she concludes that she must make a purchase. Her mind reverts to the notices of that kind of goods she has been seeing in her newspaper. The man whose advertising she has seen week after week or day after day is the one that has made the impression on her mind.

Slight impressions govern trade. It is next to impossible for a man who does not advertise to convey the idea that he is an enterprising dealer. His townspeople will not push his business for him, if he is too slow to push it for himself. The only way to convince people that you have values, is to tell the public what you have and let them judge. The newspaper will talk to hundreds of people while you are explaining things to one.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By F. O. SELLERS, Acting Director,
Sunday School Course, The Moody Bible
Institute of Chicago.

LESSON FOR AUGUST 8

THE KINGDOM TORN ASUNDER.

LESSON TEXT—I Kings 12:1-16.
GOLDEN TEXT—Pride goeth before destruction, and a haughty spirit before a fall. Prov. 16:18.

Solomon's kingdom though outwardly magnificent contained within it those germs of oppression, formal religious observances and the lax example of an indulgent monarch which speedily led to its disruption after his death. Forty years Solomon reigned, but the latter end of his life was none too peaceful. "He loved many strange women" and "his heart was not perfect with the Lord his God" (11:1, 4). Rezon was his "adversary" (11:25) and Jeroboam whom he at first sought to conciliate (11:26-28) was finally driven from the land (v. 40). Chapter eleven contains the prophecy of which this lesson is the fulfillment. "And Rehoboam, his son, reigned in his stead" (11:43).

I. The Convention at Shechem, vv. 1-5. This place has an important history beginning in the days of Abraham and Jacob. It was a city of the Levites and the place where Joshua gave his final charge (Josh. 24:1, 25). Abimelech destroyed it though it was soon rebuilt. Here Israel gathered to confirm Solomon's son upon the throne. Jerusalem and Judea readily accepted Rehoboam as king, but the ten tribes hesitated and, according to one translation there was a year's delay during which time Jeroboam was sent for and certain reforms were formulated (v. 2). Their charges were entirely selfish and made no reference to the rights of Jehovah nor offered any protest against the increasing idolatry. Before allegiance was sworn Jeroboam as spokesman presented these reforms (v. 4) and Rehoboam wisely asked for time to consider the request (v. 5).

II. Good Counsel Neglected, vv. 6-12. Rehoboam came of bad stock (ch. 14:21), yet his first step was a wise one. His name means "Enlarger of the people," but he sadly belied the same. Too long had he lived in the atmosphere of luxury and enervation. The northern tribes suffered greatly through taxation and shared none of the prosperity of Jerusalem. Solomon's "yoke," like that of every earthly monarch, had been heavy (Matt. 11:29, 30). The counsel of the old men was good (v. 7), it was wisely, manly.

Jesus tells us that the greatest must be the servant of all and sets us the example himself (Matt. 20:28). Rehoboam next consulted those of his own circle who "were grown up with him," men of like position and passions youths as inexperienced as himself who had no sympathy but were wild, conceited, overbearing, selfish. Rehoboam asked "advice" (v. 6) of the old men, but asked for "counsel" (v. 9) of the young men, but in neither case is there any suggestion that God was consulted (James 1:5). These young men counseled a boasting and burdensome course which brought Rehoboam to grief. Oppression always results in rebellion, a fact that those who govern or employ others should ponder well. Rehoboam's choice of counselors and his consequent course of action was the height of foolishness (Prov. 13:20).

III. Bad Counsel Confirmed, vv. 12-14. Jeroboam's subsequent career confirms us in believing that he more than all others encouraged and fostered the division of the kingdom. But he and the proud, foolish princeling were both only carrying out the word and will of Jehovah (v. 15; Ps. 76:10). This does not, however, lessen his guilt or folly (Acts 2:23). Not content with declaring his acceptance of the evil counsel he spoke "roughly" (v. 13) and this verse suggests to us that "the old men's counsel" was known to the people, thereby aggravating his offense. "Whom God wishes to destroy he first makes mad." Rough words wound or madden and, "by using soft words you may lead an elephant by a hair." Not content to refuse Rehoboam's threats added burdens (v. 14).

IV. Conclusion. God turned away the kingdom from Solomon's house because Solomon had turned away from God (ch. 11:9-11, 31, 33). A true prophet foretold what would happen, the "cause was from the Lord that he might perform his saying" (v. 15, cf. 11:31, 32). God is constantly and literally fulfilling prophecy. Those which have been so fully and so minutely fulfilled are a warrant that in due time all will likewise "come to pass." Rehoboam is a lesson to the young men of today.

Rehoboam is also a lesson for present day fathers.

Finally Rehoboam is a lesson to all who are set in authority. To close our ears to the cry of the needy; to forget our obligations to God and to men (Matt. 25), and to fail to see God's purposes, prophecies and plans, inevitably courts disaster.

The coming king of kings who in fulfillment of prophecy did come, and will come again, has a yoke for his subjects "which is easy." His finger (v. 10) and hands were used in loving ministries and the only chastisement (v. 11) he ever permits is that which proves us to be "sons," not slaves (Heb. 12:6-11).
